

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE
June 21, 2018

Contact: Kevin Kelley
(505) 827-0309

The New Mexico Film Office Announces “Pozole” to film in New Mexico

SANTA FE — New Mexico Film Office Director Nick Maniatis announced today that the short “Pozole” produced by Viscera Productions, in association with Hardline Films and executive produced by WeTransfer, who will be sending a documentary crew to shoot behind the scenes footage and promote the productions. Principal photography will begin filming in late June until the end of the month in Albuquerque.

The production will employ approximately 13 New Mexico crew members, 6 New Mexico actors and approximately 15 New Mexico background talent.

Directed by Jessica Mendez Siqueiros (“And Still, We Love”) and produced by Jenn Garcia (“A Picnic Table,” “At Dusk,” “Shotgun,” “Yochi”).

“Pozole” stars Monica Sanchez (“Whiskey Tango Foxtrot,” “The Night Shift”) and Ana Isabel Dow (“By The Tide,” “Greenport,” “I Loved You... But I Lied”) and is the story of dark comedy that explores cultural and racial divides within the Latino community through the lens of a southwestern Mexicano family.

###

Visit the New Mexico Film Office online at nmfilm.com