SUMMARY

Fifteen years of experience working with groups, individuals, and institutions have prepared me to feel confident in any work environment. My time as a Sniper in the Army and my experience as an Electrical Foreman have given me a diverse frame of reference in which to understand different types of work tasks and determine the most efficient ways to accomplish them.

SKILLS

Electrical work at all levels from apprentice, journeyman, and foreman to include residential, commercial, industrial, and farm. Management of personnel, materials, time, expectations, safety, etc. Communication with subordinates and superiors at an elite level to include written communication that exceeds all standards. Ability to respond to crisis with a resilient and positive attitude.
